MARYLAND TERRAPINS WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Brenda Frese

Head Coach • Arizona '93
Third Year at Maryland
Sixth Year as a Head Coach

Looking to resurrect a struggling women's basketball program, Maryland got what it was looking for when it successfully courted 2002 Associated Press National Coach of the Year Brenda Frese. Frese has not disappointed fans in College Park. Making amazing turnarounds her calling card, she led the Terrapins to an unexpected run to the second round of the 2004 NCAA Tournament and mentoring the team to its first tournament victory in 12 years. Described as dynamic, overachieving, determined and enthusiastic, the 34-year-old coach has compiled an 85-61 (.582) career record in five seasons, while turning programs around at each of her stops.

In what was supposed to be the second year of the rebuilding process, Frese instilled confidence into a Maryland squad that went 4-12 in ACC play in 2002-03 and was depending on players with limited experience, including two highly touted high school All-Americans in Shay Doron and Kalika France. In building that confidence, the Terps believed they were better than the preseason eighth-place pick and ran out to a tie for third in the ACC with an 8-8 mark, double the conference win total from each of the last two seasons and their best showing since the 1996-97 campaign. Collecting 18 wins on the season, almost double the previous season's total and the most since 1996-97, Maryland was rewarded with an NCAA Tournament bid, its first since 2000-01, and was the only 12th seed in the tournament to advance when it upset fifth-seeded and future ACC opponent Miami (Fla.), 86-85. At season's end, the Terps received votes in the final ESPN/USA Today Coaches Poll.

There was a long list of accomplishments for the Terps by the end of the season. Maryland reached the ACC Tournament semifinals for the first time since 1998 and nearly defeated top-seeded and five-time conference champion Duke. Maryland averaged a 12.3-point margin of victory in its conference wins, sweeping Wake Forest and Clemson, its first sweep of any team in three years. Statistically, the team improved its scoring, 3-point shooting and free throw percentages, ending the year ranked 18th in the nation from behind the 3-point arc. Making nine television appearances on the season, including four national broadcasts, the Terps drew a Comcast Center-record 13,446 fans to the final home game of the season versus the Blue Devils, the second-largest crowd in ACC women's basketball history.

Her first season at the Terps' helm was the rebuilding year it was predicted to be. With a roster short on depth but high on effort, Frese led Maryland to a 10-18 record, narrowly missing wins at several junctures. Frese's Terps also notched several positive steps in her first year including: breaking 100 points in a game for the first time since Dec. 28, 1993, winning their first ACC road game since Feb. 19, 2001, drawing a crowd of 5,078 – the largest at a Maryland women's basketball game to date since Feb. 24, 1996 – and bringing home their first win from Florida State since the 1995-96 campaign.

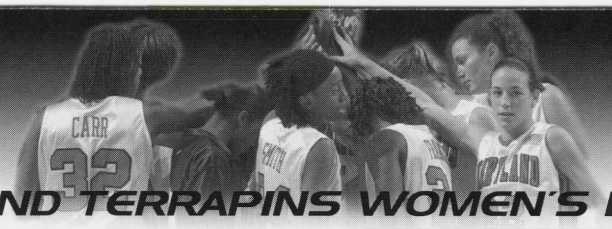
Frese has not slowed down despite the team's success in 2003-04. She continues to diligently work the recruiting trails. Regarded as one of the top recruiting coaches in the country, she nabbed the second-rated recruiting class in the nation, according to the Blue Star Report, adding more excitement to the New Era of Maryland Women's Basketball. Four of the nation's top recruits signed National Letters of Intent to play with the Terrapins beginning the 2004-05 campaign.

One of college basketball's rising stars, Frese fits with Maryland's legacy of success. At Minnesota, she earned AP National Coach of the Year honors as well as Big Ten Coach of the Year recognition for turning the Gophers' 8-20 program into a 22-8 team and a top 25 contender in 2001-02. One of the biggest one-season turnarounds in NCAA history, Minnesota set a then-school record with 22 wins and tied for second in the Big Ten with an 11-5 conference mark. Frese also took the Gophers to what was only the school's second NCAA Tournament appearance. The Golden Gophers earned a fifth-seed in the NCAA Tournament and defeated UNLV in the first round before being eliminated by three points in the second round by North Carolina.

Frese's revitalization of the Minnesota program rocked the Big Ten establishment, as her team's 10-win improvement in conference play marked the biggest one-year improvement in Big Ten history. Moreover, the 11 Big Ten wins were three more than Minnesota totaled in the previous six seasons combined. The Golden Gophers had also achieved their highest ranking in school history to that point when Minnesota was listed 14th in the Associated Press Top 25 in mid-February and garnered a No. 18 national ranking in the final regular season AP poll. Undoubtedly, Frese had arrived.

Frese started her head coaching career during the 1999-2000 season at Ball State, a program that had gone 66-169 in the nine seasons prior to her arrival. She guided the Cardinals to a 16-13 showing in 2000 and garnered Coach of the Year honors in the Mid-American Conference. Frese led Ball State to a then-school best 19-9 mark in 2000-01, capturing the school's second back-to-back winning seasons in Ball State history. Her final year at Ball State, the 2000-01 team received votes in the AP poll, climbing as high as No. 28 in the country.

Frese's enthusiam has been contagious for the fans of her teams as well, as support increased significantly at both Minnesota and Ball State under her leadership. Buoyed by the best start (9-1) in school history, the Golden Gophers finished the season ranked 19th nationally in home attendance average (4,360), including an average of 8,828 fans during the second half of the campaign when the team moved to Williams Arena from the Sports Pavilion. Frese's Gophers attracted the top four crowds in school history, including a record attendance of 12,142 vs. Michigan State and a crowd of 11,389 vs. Indiana. The 2000-01 Ball State team posted a 10-2 home record and set a single-season home attendance record.



She launched her Division I coaching career in 1994 as an assistant coach at Kent State University, helping the Golden Flashes to records of 20-8 (1994) and 17-10 (1995) during her two years there. The Cedar Rapids, Iowa, native then joined Bill Fennelly's staff at Iowa State as the Cyclones' recruiting coordinator, where she assisted in another impressive turnaround, helping ISU to three NCAA Tournament appearances in four years. All told, the Cyclones posted a composite record of 84-38 with Frese as an assistant, including a 17-10 record in 1995-96 when Iowa State recorded the biggest one-season turnaround in school history. In 1997, the Cyclones made their first-ever appearance in the NCAA Tournament, a feat they duplicated in 1998 and 1999 with identical 25-8 records. In 1999, Iowa State was ranked among the nation's Top 25 for the entire season and came within one victory of reaching the Final Four.

During her stay at Iowa State, her 1998-99 recruiting class was ranked among the nation's top 10, and the Cyclones enjoyed tremendous success at the gate, drawing a record crowd of 12,337 vs. Santa Clara in the first round of an NCAA Tournament game played in Ames, Iowa, and rewriting Iowa State's single-season attendance mark multiple times.

Frese is a 1993 graduate of the University of Arizona, where she was a three-year letterwinner for the Wildcats as a guard. When injuries sidelined her during her senior season, she joined the Pima Community College coaching staff in Tucson, Ariz., as an assistant coach in charge of recruiting and scouting. Aside from her bachelor's degree in communications from Arizona in 1993, she also earned a master's degree in athletic administration from Kent State in 1995.

Floyd coached with Frese during coaching stints at Minnesota and Kent State and has helped to rebuild the Terrapin program which reached the 2004 NCAA Tournament.

"Erica does a tremendous job with our players and with establishing relationships in the community," said Frese of Floyd. "She is also a big asset in recruiting and is committed to making our program the best it can be."

Floyd's contributions in two years at Maryland have seen the Terps win more games since 1996-97 in 2004 (18), double their Atlantic Coast Conference win total from four in 2002-03 to eight in 2003-04, and win an NCAA Tournament game for the first time in 12 years. Her recruiting efforts have also helped the Terrapin coaching staff nab the No. 2 recruiting class in the nation in 2004.

At Minnesota, Floyd assisted not only in on- and off-campus recruiting, but also with scouting and film breakdown. Eighth Year Overall

Head coach Brenda Frese took care of all the details when she built her staff at Minnesota and brought that winning formula, intact, to Maryland, including Director of Basketball Operations Mark Pearson. In his third year, Pearson oversees the general operations of the basketball program, especially the planning of team travel.

"Mark does a tremendous job of overseeing all of our team travel and coordinating our office from top to bottom," said Frese. "Mark does a great job organizing and makes sure everything runs smoothly while also serving as our director of summer camps."

While Pearson was with Frese in Minnesota, he handled team travel, scheduled practices, coordinated camps and assisted with community service. His experience before Minnesota was vast and varied, including knowledge of both the business and the coaching worlds.

MARYLAND TERRAPINS WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

2004-05 Preseason Preview

Young Terps look to build on 2003-04 success

Shay Doron

The success of last year's Maryland women's basketball team has reignited an excitement which has carried over into 2004-05. That excitement has been fueled even more by the arrival of the Blue Star Report's second-ranked recruiting class in the nation to College Park. Expectations are high based on last season's surprise run to the second round of the NCAA Tournament and the addition of four new freshmen, however, head coach Brenda Frese's squad is loaded with young talent as eight of the 11 players on the Maryland roster are freshmen and sophomores.

Maryland had its first taste of success in a long while, winning the program's first NCAA Tournament game in 12 years when it upset fifth-seeded Miami (Fla.) in the first round of the tournament. However, the Terps were not satisfied and left Baton Rouge, La., wanting more, prompting off-season workouts filled with intensity.

"The team has been working extremely hard to make huge gains during the off-season, hitting the weight room to improve their strength and endurance while becoming more physically fit," said Frese.""The off-season will determine how far we end up going at the end of the season."

The Terps return seven letterwinners, including three starters. Among the seven returning players are Shay Doron and Kalika France who both led the team in scoring last season. Returning starter and the team's only senior, Anesia Smith makes her final go-around in a Maryland uniform this year.

Four familiar faces will not be returning, including Honorable Mention All-ACC performer Delvona Oliver and Crystal Washington, one of just two players to start every game last year. The Terps also have to contend with the departure of Chrissy Fisher who was an outside scoring threat. Those losses result in inexperience among the post players with the Terps relying on three talented freshmen and a veteran core in juniors Charmaine Carr and Angel Ross, and sophomore Aurelie Noirez who gained limited but valuable experience.

GUARDS

"We have plenty of experience coming back at the guard positions with Shay, Kalika and Anesia," said Frese.""They played a major role last year and we will be counting a lot on those three again"

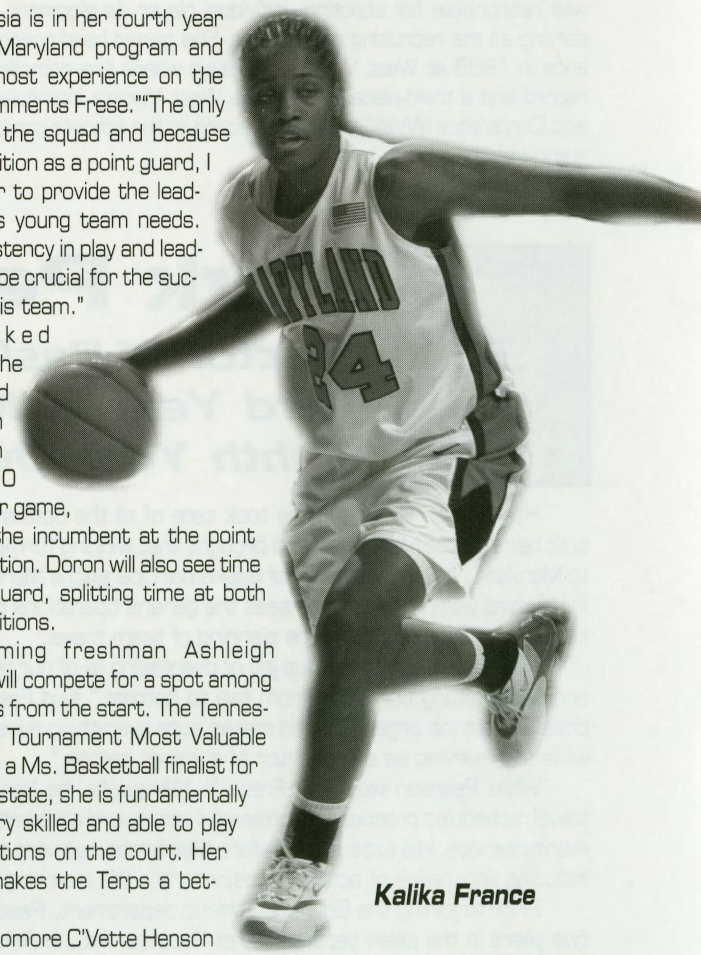
Shay Doron and Kalika France lived up to their billing last season, earning a number of conference honors, including All-ACC laurels. Both were in the top 15 in the ACC in scoring with Doron pacing the Maryland offense at 13.5 points per game, good for 10th in the league. France contributed 11. 7 ppg for 12th in the ACC. The team's point leaders on 19 occasions last year, the tandem will again be expected to take on the bulk of the scoring.

Starting the final 24 of 25 games of the season, including all four postseason contests where she handed out a career-high nine assists in the ACC Tournament win against Florida State, Anesia Smith will be expected to take on a larger leadership role. She steps in for five-year veteran Vicki Brick who left Maryland in the top 15 in assists and steals and played a vital role in the Terps' run to the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

"Anesia is in her fourth year with the Maryland program and has the most experience on the team," comments Frese.""The only senior on the squad and because of her position as a point guard, I expect her to provide the leadership this young team needs. Her consistency in play and leadership will be crucial for the success of this team."

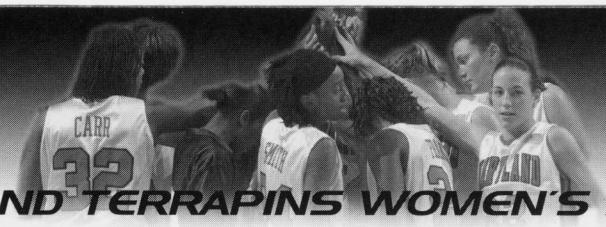
Ranked 12th in the ACC and first on the team with 2.90 assists per game, Smith is the incumbent at the point guard position. Doron will also see time at point guard, splitting time at both guard positions.

Incoming freshman Ashleigh Newman will compete for a spot among the guards from the start. The Tennessee State Tournament Most Valuable Player and a Ms. Basketball finalist for her home state, she is fundamentally sound, very skilled and able to play most positions on the court. Her addition makes the Terps a better squad.



Kalika France

Sophomore C'Vette Henson is the other returning guard. A walk-on last season, she earned a scholarship and, with marked improvement through off-season workouts, could find herself in the mix among the guards.



FORWARDS/CENTERS

With the losses of Delvona Oliver and Crystal Washington, the post players are the most inexperienced group among the team. Freshmen Crystal Langhorne, Laura Harper and Jade Perry will each make an immediate impact and see significant playing time. All three bring numerous postseason accolades with them: Langhorne and Harper were named Parade and USA Today All-Americans and were finalists for the 2004 USA Junior World Championships Qualifying team, while Perry was a Kentucky State All-Star and led her team to the state tournament finals. Without question, a talented group joins the Terrapin squad for 2004-05, but each will be inexperienced in the college game and will need to make the transition quickly if the team is to be successful.

Frese will look to the veteran leadership of Charmaine Carr, Angel Ross and sophomore Aurelie Noirez in the paint.

"As they continue to improve, they make this team better," continued Frese. "The hard work they are putting in and their understanding of their roles is the key ingredient to the team's chemistry, which is also important, and the team's success which translates into wins and losses."

Noirez will play her first full collegiate season after missing the first eight games last season while the NCAA determined her international eligibility status. Once she hit the court, however, she saw time in every game, including the postseason. Ross and Carr saw limited playing time, but have two seasons of playing experience in the ACC under their belt.

THE NEW ACC

The expansion of the Atlantic Coast Conference brought the likes of Miami (Fla.) and Virginia Tech - two of the best women's basketball teams in the nation. The Hokies and the Hurricanes earned NCAA Tournament bids and were ranked among the top 25 in the country for most of last season. Maryland faced both teams last year, Tech during the regular season and Miami in postseason play.

"I'm very excited to see Miami and Virginia Tech join the conference," remarked Frese.""With the addition of Boston College in 2005-06, the ACC may now be the best conference in the country and is certainly the most visible and highly recognized."

The Terps were left hungry for more when they had their taste of success and near upsets last year. Despite an even tougher conference slate, Maryland looks to continue to compete in the upper echelon of the league and make consecutive trips to the NCAAs for the first time since the 1991-92 and 1992-93 seasons. The reward of making another trip to the postseason will be even more satisfying as the Terrapins will play host to the first and second rounds of the 2005 NCAA Tournament.

MARYLAND TERRAPINS WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

2003-04 Season Review

TERPS MAKE IMPRESSIVE TURNAROUND

In what was supposed to be another rebuilding season, the Terps impressed everyone and make an unexpected turnaround during the 2003-04 season which culminated in a trip to the NCAA Tournament, advancing to the second round.

Maryland, picked to finish eighth in a preseason media poll after winning just four conference games in each of its last two seasons, finished tied for third in the ACC, posting an 8-8 record, equaling or surpassing its conference win total from nine of the last 10 years. Known for her amazing turnarounds, 2002 AP National Coach of the Year Brenda Frese guided the Terps to an 18-13 record overall, the most wins for the program since the 1996-97 campaign. The Terps also played in the ACC Tournament semifinals for the first time since 1998 and won their first NCAA Tournament game in 12 years.

RECORD CROWD ON HAND FOR FINAL HOME GAME

A Comcast Center record 13,446 fans showed up for the Terps' regular-season home finale when they hosted No. 4/4 Duke on Feb. 22. The women's basketball attendance record at Comcast is also the second-largest ACC women's basketball crowd all-time. Maryland set that record on Feb. 12, 1992, drawing 14,500 fans.

All-Time Top ACC Attendance

1.	14,500	Virginia at Maryland Cole Field House, College Park, Md., Feb. 12, 1992
2.	13,446	Duke at Maryland Comcast Center, College Park, Md., Feb. 22, 2004
3.	11,520	Virginia at NC State Reynolds Coliseum, Raleigh, N.C., Jan. 12, 1991

TERPS RECEIVE VOTES IN NATIONAL POLLS

With its unexpected run to the second round of the NCAA Tournament, Maryland received votes in the final ESPN/USA Today Coaches Poll. The Terps received national recognition four times in the Associated Press Top 25 during the regular season, garnering a season-high 29 votes for the week beginning Jan. 12, just five spots out of the top 25.

DORON ETCHES NAME INTO RECORD BOOKS

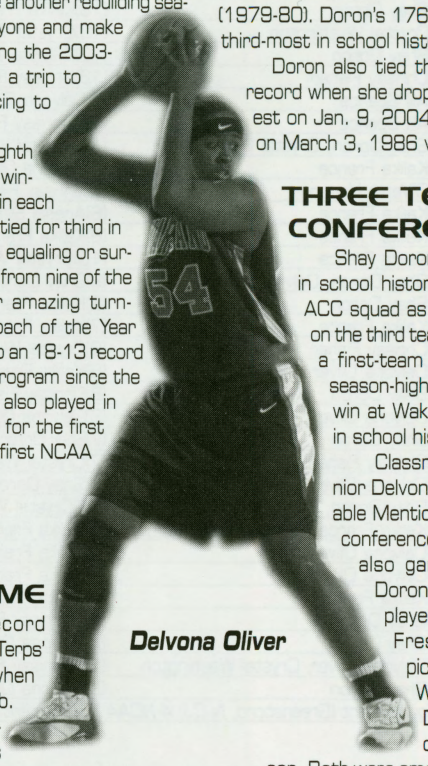
All-ACC performer Shay Doron wasted no time making her way into the record books. In her first career game in a Terrapin uniform, she tied an NCAA record, netting 23 free throws on Nov. 21, 2003, vs. Coppin State, while also breaking the ACC and school mark. She also set the conference and school records for attempts with 27. By season's end, Doron had rewritten the Maryland free-throw shooting record for a season, sinking 136 foul shots, breaking Kris Kirchner's record of 135 which had stood for 14 years (1979-80). Doron's 176 attempts on the year is the third-most in school history.

Doron also tied the Maryland freshman class record when she dropped 32 points at Wake Forest on Jan. 9, 2004. Deanna Tate set the mark on March 3, 1986 vs. North Carolina.

THREE TERPS EARN CONFERENCE AWARDS

Shay Doron became the first Terrapin in school history to be selected to the All-ACC squad as a freshman, earning a spot on the third team. Doron, who also received a first-team vote, scored a conference season-high tying 32 points in the Terps' win at Wake Forest, the seventh-most in school history.

Classmate Kalika France and senior Delvona Oliver were named Honorable Mention All-ACC. Earning the first conference honor of her career, Oliver also garnered a first-team vote. Doron and France were two of five players named to the ACC All-Freshman team. France was picked conference Rookie of the Week three times, while Doron was selected twice during the course of the season. Both were among the top four rookie scorers in the league, while also ranking in the top five among freshmen in assists and steals, and top six in rebounding.



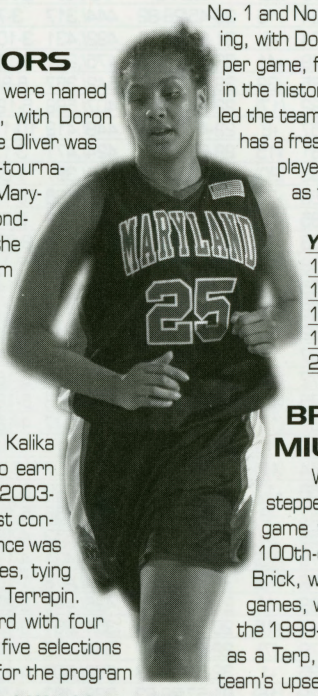
Delvona Oliver

ACC TOURNEY HONORS

Shay Doron and Delvona Oliver were named to the ACC's All-Tournament team, with Doron earning a spot on the first team while Oliver was selected to the second team. The all-tournament recognitions were the first for Maryland since Deedee Warley was a second-team honoree in 2001. Doron is the first Terp selected to the first team since Jessie Hicks in 1993.

FRANCE, DORON PILE UP ROOKIE OF THE WEEK HONORS

Maryland freshmen sensations Kalika France and Shay Doron combined to earn five ACC Rookie of the Week nods in 2003-04 as they led the Terps to their best conference showing since 1996-97. France was picked Rookie of the Week three times, tying for the second-most selections by a Terrapin. Bonnie Rimkus set the school record with four during the 1990-91 campaign. The five selections for Maryland tied for the most ever for the program in one season.



Crystal Washington

AMONG NATION'S BEST

The Terps' 36.8 percent team shooting percentage from three-point land ranked 18th in the NCAA. The ACC's leader in that category, no other league squad was among the country's top 30 in three-point shooting.

NOT LIKE THEY PREDICTED

After finishing the 2002-03 season tied for seventh in the ACC, logging just four wins, the '03-'04 Terps were picked to finish in the same spot, ahead of only Wake Forest, in an ACC Preseason Poll conducted by the media. The media could not have been more wrong... Maryland surprised everyone, finishing in a tie for third by season's end with an 8-8 record.

1. Duke (36)	6. NC State
2. North Carolina	7. Clemson
3. Virginia	8. MARYLAND
4. Georgia Tech	9. Wake Forest
5. Florida State

GREAT EIGHT!

With its 8-8 regular-season conference record, tying for third in the ACC, Maryland doubled its conference win total from each of the last two seasons, equaling or surpassing the Terps' ACC win totals from nine of the last 10 years. The Terrapins third-place showing is the best since the 1996-97 campaign.

FAB FRESHMEN

Shay Doron and Kalika France came to College Park looking to make an immediate impact on the Maryland program and help coach Brenda Frese return the team back to the national spotlight. The two freshmen did not disappoint, spending most of the season ranked No. 1 and No. 2, respectively, on the team in scoring, with Doron leading the way with 13.5 points per game, followed by France with 11.7. Never, in the history of the program, have two rookies led the team in scoring and only four other times has a freshman led the Terps. Below is a list of players who have led Maryland in scoring as freshmen.

Year	Player	Scoring Avg.
1985-86	Deanna Tate	16.7
1986-87	Edna Campbell	16.1
1994-95	Stephanie Cross	11.5
1998-99	Deedee Warley	13.4
2003-04	Shay Doron	13.5

BRICK REACHES MILESTONE

When fifth-year senior Vicki Brick stepped on the court in the Jan. 15, 2004, game vs. Georgia Tech, she logged her 100th career game in a Maryland uniform. Brick, who ended her career playing in 115 games, was with the Terrapin program since the 1999-2000 campaign. Her final two games as a Terp, she played a significant role in the team's upset of fifth-seeded Miami (Fla.) in the first round of the 2004 NCAA Tournament.
